 Please share with your Y6 child

Dear Year 6,

Next week you will be sitting your SATs tests. We know how hard you have been working and preparing yourselves for these tests, but there is something important that you need to know.

The SATs that you are sitting do not access all of what makes you all so special and unique. The people who create these tests and score them, they do not know each of you the way we do and what makes you 'Sparkle and Shine' and they certainly do not know you the way your family does.

We know that some of you love to play sports🏀, sing🎤, dance💃 and draw🎨, they don't. They have not seen your natural gymnastics talents🤸 or even how you like to take charge in sporting activities🏆 you take part in. They do not see how you support your friends and teachers and know that you are always there for them. They do not see your laughter and how this can brighten up😄 the darkest days or how you never like to be given a compliment😊. They do not know what pride you take in your work and out of school activities, or how you wonder what will come next and they definitely do not see how you help and support at home. They do not see that you are kind, considerate, respectful and trustworthy, how thoughtful you are and how you try your best every single day. They have not been lucky enough to see how you work as a team and how fantastic you have been in class performances and assemblies.

You are invited to come and join in our SATs breakfast club next week and as a reward for all your hard work so far there will be bacon and sausage sandwiches, cheese on toast, toast and a variety of spreads including Nutella, and much more! Then on Friday afternoon we will celebrate in style with an almighty Year 6 party!

The scores that you get from these tests will tell you a number/grade, but they will not tell you everything! There are many ways of being smart just remember that regardless of what SATs say!
